

Task

You are a doctor of the hospital admissions department. An ambulance in the department delivered a patient with perforated ulcer. Emergency surgery is indicated. In the preoperative period, it is necessary to determine the patient's blood group. Please, using the materials provided, determine the patient's blood group according to the AB0 system using the cyclonic method.