

Practical skills of OSCE
(Propaedeutics pediatrics)

- History taking of the child and his or her parents
- Methods of examination and assessment of the state of the nervous system in the newborn baby: behavior, muscle tone, transient reflexes of the newborn
- Methods for examination and assessment of meningeal symptoms in a first-year child and a child older than 1 year
- Interpretation of blood pressure measurement results in a child
- Interpretation of complete blood count results in a child
- Interpretation of urinalysis results in a child
- Interpretation of 24-hour urine specific gravity test results in a child

